

ADMISSIONS

Judson seeks students with academic ability, personal promise, strong motivation, seriousness of purpose, and high moral character.

Admission is based on a careful review of credentials, and varies by academic level and program. Some major programs have additional admission requirements, which can be found on their respective department/division pages within the catalog. Admission to Judson University does not necessarily mean the student is also admitted into their program of choice.

Campus Visits

Students are encouraged to visit the campus. Those wishing to be part of campus life for a day may call the Admissions Office in advance to schedule appointments with faculty, coaches and/or advisors as requested. Overnight accommodations for traditional undergraduate student guests are available during the school year in the campus residence halls with a Judson Ambassador as host. Reasonably priced hotels are conveniently located for use by other interested students and family members.

Typically, the best day to visit campus is Monday, Wednesday and Friday when we hold our tri-weekly chapel services.
